

I'm Jay.

a programmer.

Hello.

I am a Web Developer. I love coffee and a biscuit, and playing basketball 🏀.

My Skills.

Programming

I started learning to code after visiting London where I had the opportunity to experience the newest fintech apps. I started with web programming and I spent over a year working as a Salesforce platform developer, gaining expertise in Apex language as well. I am always eager to learn new technologies and expand my programming skills.

Korean dish

During my time living outside of Korea, I had to make Korean cuisine myself, and I became quite skilled in preparing it. I enjoy searching for new recipes on Youtube and share my love for it with others.

Get In Touch

If you love Korean dishes as much as I do.

Love bibimbap and makgeolli as much as I do? Let's talk about how awesome they are! We can code while we drink makgeolli!

CONTACT ME